

Bio

Rima Al Tawil

Rima Al Tawil has an extensive background as an educator: first in ESL, Social Studies and the arts, then later as a corporate trainer. Now, after graduating from Yorkville University's Master of Education in Adult Education, she has established herself as an e-learning expert. She currently works as a Senior Learning Consultant and Instructional Designer with Flint Learning Solutions, a corporate learning company that provides consultancy and customized learning solutions for global institutions.

Rima Al Tawil has also joined the Doctor of Education in Distance Education program at Athabasca University. The action research project she conducted at Yorkville University is accepted for publication by The International Review of Research in Open and Distributed Learning (IRRODL).

“As a scholar practitioner, I have experienced the power of combining academic studies with professional achievements to create and share knowledge which contributes to the development of both sectors.
